The TNLA Education and Research Foundation actively supports a strong tradition of horticultural philanthropy by building a substantial pool of dollars meant to offset the educational costs for today's best and brightest students and researchers.

Your $25 membership will do more than connect you to the research findings, networking opportunities, and educational forums you crave as an avid supporter of the advancement of horticulture, it will also help light the flame of curiosity that now needs to burn brighter than ever in the face of modern challenges like:

- Decreasing support for agricultural research
- Declining numbers of students seeking horticultural degrees
- Waning public support for educational institutions that actively study the progress of plant material, pest management, and maintenance strategies

Join the newest club in the Green Industry today by filling out the attached application and mailing it, with your payment, to TNLA. To find out more about the Foundation, its scholarship opportunities, the benefits of membership, or to join online, visit us at www.tnlaonline.org/EandRFoundation.
